CS 111 Intro to Programming

An introductory programming course using the .NET language to create event-driven programs with a graphical user interface. Topics include variables, control structures, loops, object-oriented programming techniques, forms, debugging, and an introduction to database programming using ADO.NET and SQL.

(F, S)

Prerequisite: MPC 095/096 or concurrent enrollment